Randomizer Chits, © SPI, New York, N.Y.

Because of the petrochemical shortage (and other boring complications) we've not been able to procure dice to include in this game. These chits are provided as a substitute. Punch out the two sets of chits numbered 1 through 6 and place them in a wide-mouthed, opaque container (such as a coffee mug). When a die roll is called for in the game, draw a chit instead. Always replace a drawn chit before drawing again. Chits from Zero through nine are provided for use with "base ten" tables. We apologize for any inconvenience the use of chits might cause you. If it's any consolation to you, these chits cost us more than dice.
